Melting the Ice in the Heart of Man

Today, March 21st is a special day for me. In the old days when I was growing up, we followed the calendar of the moon and the sun. On 21st March the sun comes back to the belly button of the world, which you call the North Pole. That belly button has been in the darkness for six months without seeing the sun. Now the sun returns and shines again on the belly button, and on that day we celebrate the New Year.

A new spring has come the dark winter is over, and the rays of the sun will begin to melt the snow and the ice. This indeed is a beautiful time. The extremeness of the cold will vanish and be changed by warmth of the sun, day by day. Let's celebrate together this beautiful day and new beginning!

It is a really strange time. I have not hugged people for a long- long time and still I cannot travel. Thus I keep supporting you in online meetings. The next chance to meet face to face is Individual sessions in March. In April I will guide you through your own root ceremony in the Seminar "Finding Your Roots and Ancestors", where you will literally dig for your ancestors and connect with their energy.

Remember, nobody can live without ones roots. You are the bud at the end of a long strand of roots. Only by getting to know yourself and your story, you can walk tall and powerful through life. We need people who can walk tall and powerful, independent what is happening around us.

In unity, Angaangaq

Angaangaq Angakkorsuaq, Elder and Shaman, comes from Greenland, the only country in the world where man lives and there has never been war. Angaangaq's teachings are deeply rooted in the oral traditions of his people. Angaangaq bridges the boundaries of cultures and faiths in people young and old as he advocates for a Spiritual Climate change. His commitment to the environment and Indigenous issues has brought him to 73 countries. He is offering seminars and lectures in Europe and the USA.
